The government in Northern Ireland gives money every year to schemes which are designed to help improve relations between the different religions and communities in Northern Ireland. The schemes include T:BUC summer camps for children; shared education schemes in schools as well as cross-community programmes for adults and joint community facilities and buildings. The government also gives money to the local councils to provide additional projects and schemes in their areas. INTERVIEWER NOTE: T:BUC STANDS FOR TOGETHER: BUILDING A UNITED COMMUNITY

Paragraph for Interviewer Notes

The T:BUC Summer Camps are about building positive relations and long lasting friendships among young people across all parts of our community. Camps bring diverse groups together to get to know each other, try new experiences and help build longer term relationships between young people. Good Relations learning is at the heart of every Camp.

NITREAT

- Q8 The Armed Forces Covenant does not apply in Northern Ireland. Some people would like the rules extended to here but others feel that they are unfair or unnecessary. Suppose there was an ex-soldier living in Northern Ireland. If this soldier was given priority health treatment or housing, because they had received significant injuries, do you think that this would be generally fair or unfair?

Now some questions about particular situations.

EXSHOUSE

- Q9 Frank was a soldier in Afghanistan before returning to his home town of Belfast. Before joining the army he was on the waiting list for a Housing Executive house but because he spent so much time away from home, he had to go back to the bottom of the housing waiting list. Do you think that it would be fair or unfair if the rules allowed Frank to keep his place on the waiting list and not have to start again?
